THE LOCATION:

Myddfai is a peaceful country area of great natural beauty within Brecon Beacons National Park and is famous in Wales for being home to the “The Physicians of Myddfai” for hundreds of years. These were country doctors who healed with traditional remedies made from the herbs that grew, (and still grow), in this vicinity. It is thought that these practices continued around the Myddfai area until the 18th Century. Legend has it that the very first Physicians were the sons of the “Lady of the Lake”, a magical woman who in medieval times appeared out of a local lake, married a farmer and had three sons, to whom she taught the arts of herbal medicine before disappearing back into the waters with her white cattle. This lake is Llyn y Fan Fach, a small, beautiful, volcanic lake set beneath the summit of Bannau Sir Gaer on the Black Mountain, (8 miles or so south-easterly from the property). The delightful, quaint little village of Myddfai is tucked away amidst beautiful countryside, with buildings clustered around the old parish church of St. Michael. Rich in flora and fauna, this is excellent country for outdoor pursuits such as walking, cycling, fishing and bird watching, with magnificent scenery to enjoy. There are a plethora of quiet country lanes serving the area, many paths, tracks and bridleways lead up into the mountains.

The historic Llwynywermod, (Llwynywormwood), Estate is close to Myddfai, and 3 miles from Y Cwrt. The 192 acre estate was purchased by the Duchy of Cornwall on behalf of the then Prince of Wales In 2007. The Duchy of Cornwall, (then Prince Charles), purchased this estate to be used as his Welsh base, adding a royal seal of approval to lovely Myddfai.

Brecon Beacons National Park extends from Llandeilo in the west, to Hay-on-Wye in the east, covering some 520 square miles, and incorporates the Black Mountain massif to the west, the Fforest Fawr, the Central Brecon Beacons and Black Mountains Range to the east. The scenery is spectacular with diverse countryside including high mountain peaks, gorges, waterfalls, lakes, open hills and moorland, as well as wooded valleys and lowlands with soft rolling farmland and crystal clear meandering rivers. The park can be explored on foot, horseback, bicycle or by car. There are Castles at strategic points on the boundaries of the Park – at Hay-on-Wye, Brecon, Trecastle, Tretower, Crickhowell and Carreg Cennen.

Llangadog is 2.4 miles south-westerly, an old drovers’ and market village providing a primary school, doctor’s surgery, general convenience store, newsagent with sub-post office, butcher’s shop, pubs with restaurants, St. Cadog’s church, and a small railway station on the outskirts, also on the Heart of Wales line. Llangadog Common, (also known as Carreg-Sawdde Common), is on the outskirts of the village with delightful walks by the River Sawdde, a tributary of the meandering Towy.

Llandovery is 3.5 miles from the property northerly in the upper Towy valley, surrounded by hills and located at the north-western edge of the National Park. There is a good selection of shops, a supermarket, main post office, banks, doctor’s and dentist’s surgeries, hotels, cafes, restaurants, pubs, swimming pool, primary schools, bus service, and a railway station on the scenic Heart of Wales country line that runs over 121 miles from Swansea to Shrewsbury. The town has a mix of Georgian and Victorian architecture, Norman Castle remains, a Heritage Centre and the well known Llandovery College public school, which has a golf course.

Llandeilo is about 8 miles away, a charming town with distinctive shops, galleries, pubs, hotels, good restaurants, main post office, health centre, dentists, schools and churches. Llandeilo's railway station is also on the Heart of Wales line, and the A483 road runs through the town leading southwards to Swansea and the M4 Motorway. Standing in an elevated situation on the banks of the River Towy, the town was once the medieval capital of Carmarthenshire, but the development of Llandeilo really grew in the 18th Century as a market town and banking centre for cattle drovers. It once had corn and woollen mills as well as a tanning industry, and it is still an agricultural centre nowadays. The town retains its old world charm, with narrow streets, historic Georgian buildings, and a single-span stone bridge over the Towy, built in 1848.

The Coast is about an hour's drive. To the north-west, magnificent Cardigan Bay is famous for porpoises, dolphins, seals, sea birds, beautiful beaches, and cliff top walks, with popular resorts such as Aberaeron and New Quay closeby as well as secluded coves. To the south on Carmarthen Bay, the Millennium Coastal Park offers beaches, dunes, salt marshes, fens, woodland and leisure facilities. Cefn Sidan Beach provides a 7 mile expanse of peaceful sands and dunes. The Gower Peninsula is a little further on, jutting out to sea between Llanelli and Swansea, with a particularly stunning coastline and beautiful unspoilt landscapes.
